

SOCIALITIES.

Judge Long has been absent from the city for several days.

Miss Jessie Malone, of Cadiz, is visiting friends in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Turner left for Hot Springs, Ark., yesterday.

Mr. Thos. H. Griner, of Cadiz, was at the Cooper House last Thursday.

Mr. T. P. Burke, a prominent citizen of Clarksville, was in town last week.

Chas. G. Cohn, a former merchant of this place, is in the city visiting his father.

Rev. N. Lacy, of Madisonville was in town Sunday the guest of Mr. Grissom.

Mr. N. B. Edmunds, who has been very sick recently, is again on the streets.

Mrs. R. W. Morehead, of Princeton, was among the visitors to the city last week.

Miss Lizzie Golladay, an attractive young lady of Roaring Spring, was in town Friday.

Mr. R. W. Roach, of New York, well known to many of our people, was in town last week.

Miss Willis Leavelle, of Trenton, who, until recently, resided here, was in the city Friday.

Miss Mamie Burbridge returned Sunday from a visit to Miss Jennie Gary, in the country.

Miss Mary Drake, a former pupil of B. F. College, is sojourning for a few days at that institution.

Col. John W. McPherson went up to Frankfort last week to argue a case in the Court of Appeals.

Miss Mary Campbell is at home, after having been absent from the city several days visiting friends in the country.

Mr. R. M. Salmon, of this county, departed for Dallas, Texas, yesterday, where he contemplates making his home in the future.

Messrs. Geo. Burnett and Ed. Thompson, two Cadiz beaux, were in the city Sunday. Hopkinsville's prettiest girls attract them from far and near.

Misses Ellen Garnett, Mary and Lucy Day, returned home yesterday, after spending several days with Miss Lizzie Gish.

Misses Merrimoth and Humphries, of Clarksville, who have been visiting the Misses Hopper, went home yesterday.

Miss Minnie Payne left Friday for Springfield, Tenn., to be gone for a month. This will no doubt be a sad announcement to her many admirers.

Maj. J. O. Ferrell and Prof. J. W. Rust went to Atlanta, Ga., last week, to represent Hopkinsville in the Southern Baptist Convention, which held its annual meeting at that place.

Johnnie Thompson, recently employed on the Trigg Democrat, and a clever boy, stopped in the city a day or two last week, on his way to Brenham, Texas, where he has accepted a position.

Mr. Jarred C. Gant went over to Nashville yesterday to meet his wife and Miss Mamie Barnes, who have been spending several months with relatives in Petersburg, Va. Mrs. Rouleau will not return.

Miss Louisa Loos, who spent the winter with the Misses Gish, departed for her home, Bethany, W. Va., last week. She made many friends and had many admirers during her stay here, and her departure is greatly deplored by Hopkinsville society.

Our young friend, C. W. Metcalfe, of the firm of Metcalfe & Sons, has gone to Clarksville to establish a branch to their large implement house in this city. Olney is a clever, industrious and energetic fellow, and an upright and straightforward business man, and we wish him much success in his new field.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

J. M. Hopkins, Proprietor, Banner Livery, Feed and Sale Stable, has everything first-class in his line. See announcement.

Horsford's self-raising Bread Powder, are being introduced in our city, and are liked by all.

Messrs. Cowan & Baker are handling W. A. Wood's Self-Binder, Self-Rake and Special Tobacco Company.

Several items of valuable trade news, out of consideration for the house he represents, resulted a dangle of a prominent citizen on the street one day last week. He insolently accosted her with some impudent remark concerning her beauty and then followed her several squares, trying to bring himself into her notice by coughing, etc. His name is known by the friends of the young lady, and unless he departs himself in a more gentlemanly manner he will subject himself to an application of sole leather, should he return.

HERB AND THERE.

Marbles are all the rage. Look out for grates in a few days. The Court of Claims meets next Monday.

Communications from "Boy" and "Check," came in too late to get in this week.

There is a clique in town which we will "rush up" if it doesn't alter its course of action.

The police have just got their new uniform and now present quite a military appearance.

Hereafter we cannot publish obituaries exceeding ten lines, except at advertising rates—ten cents a line.

We understand a company of young men are taking a pleasure trip to Pilot Rock next Thursday.

Painted dogs were among the novelties on the streets last week. Red seemed to be the prevailing fashion.

The tobacco Fair has been postponed until June 17th, owing to the dry weather for the last several weeks.

Reports from the northern parlor of the country say that the fly is making fearful ravages on the young tobacco plants.

Correspondents will please not allude to the weather in their communications. The weather is the same all over the county.

An interesting article on the turnpike question was unavoidably crowded out this week. We will publish it next week.

There was another runaway scrap and a vehicle smashed up in front of our window Thursday night. No body hurt, however.

Buy your sheet music of S. II. Turner. He has a large stock on hand at publisher's prices. Liberal discount to teachers.

The Good Templar's Lodge "went under" a week or two ago. A brave handfull struggled long against the alcoholic side, but they were submersed at last.

Mrs. Lucy Linkham, a widow daughter of Dr. Chas. Shuckford, died at the residence of Mrs. Louis Leavelle, in this city, last Thursday, a victim to that fatal disease, consumption.

Every warehouse clerk in town has come to us privately and accused us of being too personal in our discussions last week, in the piece headed "Moonstruck." A guilty conscience needs no accuser."

Hawkins, Hargraves & Cross, the well-known, polite and experienced barbers on the corner of Main and Court Streets, have just fitted up their new shop in handsome style and solicit the continued patronage of the public.

A negro boy named John McCoy was accidentally shot last Friday by Willie Bell while crowing oaths for the shooting club. He was shot in the face and it is thought one eye is destroyed. The wound, though serious, is not considered dangerous.

We were shown a picture last week, now on exhibition at the store of Glass & Ware, drawn by Miss Lillie Waller, of this city, which, in our humble judgment excels any work of the kind ever executed by an amateur, or we might say by a professional artist, in Hopkinsville. We do not know the name of the picture, but it represents a little child with upturned eyes, clasping its mother round the neck. It certainly reflects credit upon Miss Lillie.

The old house, just torn down, on the corner of Main and Russellville Streets, was probably the oldest one in the city. We are informed by an old citizen that it was put up about the beginning of this century, and during the war of 1812 was a hotel, kept by a man named Crow. It was built of logs and weather-boarded and plastered. The logs, in all appearances, are as sound as they were the day they were put up. A part of the building which is to be replaced will be used for a bank we understand.

We have previously mentioned, Dr. W. F. Patton, late of Bellevue, has recently located here for the purpose of practicing his profession. He is an excellent doctor and we trust he will receive a liberal patronage. Mrs. Patton will, in connection with Mrs. Brannah, conduct a school for girls, a beginning last fall. Mrs. Patton is a lady of rare accomplishments and considerable experience, and the school taught by the above named ladies will be abundantly worthy the patronage of the people.

A drummer, whose name we suppose, out of consideration for the house he represents, resulted a dangle of a prominent citizen on the street one day last week. He insolently accosted her with some impudent remark concerning her beauty and then followed her several squares, trying to bring himself into her notice by coughing, etc. His name is known by the friends of the young lady, and unless he departs himself in a more gentlemanly manner he will subject himself to an application of sole leather, should he return.

There is a great deal of sickness in the country.

Mrs. Vass, wife of M. B. Vass, is very sick. She has been unconscious for several days. Her recovery is exceedingly doubtful.

Sam McColpin and R. F. Shanklin have been confined to their rooms for some days. It is thought that they will not recover.

The Fairview shooting club hosts a match with the Elkins and Trotman clubs at Burres' Blacksmith shop to-day.

Chas. H. Harrison has bought R. Fletcher's grocery out and will embark on his own hook.

His age was about forty years.

WORLDLY WICKEDNESS.

Ten Charges Preferred by the Rev. W. H. Darnall vs. Elder Garuthers.

"KUN-JUR."

A Horrible Story.

A Snake Taken from the Stomach of a Negro.

It will be remembered that the Rev. Mr. Darnall, recently conducted a protracted meeting in the Cumberland Presbyterian church of this city several weeks ago. The telegraphic reports from his home in Lebanon, Tenn., indicate that he has since become very disgreably involved in a social scandal. The news comes that he has preferred ten charges against Judge Robt. L. Garuthers, one of the finest lawyers in the land, and professor in Cumberland University.

The first is that, claiming to be a protector of Miss Mary Cahal, an inmate of his household, and a piece by marriage, and claiming as far back as October 22, 1877, to have in his possession evidence of her innocence or writing or mailing vicious anonymous letters, he has not up to the present time published so much of that evidence as would establish her innocence, although she was published as the party upon whom suspicion had fallen as the writer of scandalous anonymous letters received by various parties in Lebanon. The other nine charges are substantially the same as the first.

On or about October 1877, reports were circulated that Mrs. Cahal had been intimate with Miss Cahal, and soon afterward anonymous letters assuring that Mrs. Hockett, a wealthy lady of Lebanon, was in term of too great intimacy with the Rev. W. H. Darnall, were extensively circulated. It was proposed that Mrs. Hockett circulated the reports about Cahal and Miss Cahal, and that, in order to be revenged, Miss Cahal wrote the anonymous letters. The breeze created by the letter resulted in Garuthers resigning his editorship in the church, Miss Cahal's name being struck from the roll of membership. Investigation of the charges will commence tomorrow in Lebanon.

St. John's.

It has been several months since an event has happened in this city that awakened such universal interest as the marriage of Rev. L. S. Stine, formerly pastor of the Christian church here, and Miss Cora Gish a winsome and accomplished daughter of Dr. D. J. Gish. The nuptials were celebrated at the Baptist church last Thursday, 8th inst., in the presence of one of the most select and refined audiences ever assembled in Hopkinsville.

At a few minutes past eleven the rustle of silks announced the approach of the bridal party. A subdued murmur of admiration came from the congregation as the attendants came slowly up the aisle and took their appropriate positions, and when the tall and stately groom, and his young and blushing bride entered and took their stand beneath the arch of evergreens and flowers, from which was suspended a tasteful monogram, composed of the initials letters of the happy couple, intense silence prevailed. Elder C. K. Marshall of the Christian Church then united them in wedlock, and invoked the blessing of God upon them through life.

After the ceremony the bridal party consisting of the newly wedded couple; Dr. T. J. Lether and Miss Lizzie Gish; Mr. J. L. Dorsey, and Miss Lulu Loos; Mr. Walter Garnett and Miss Lucy Day; Mr. E. T. Robards and Miss Mary Day; and Mr. Tom W. Long, and Miss Ellen Garnett, immediately proceeded to the depot, and departed on the 11:45 train for Henderson, the future home of Mr. and Mrs. Stine.

We are requested to thank the members of the Baptist church for proffering the use of their building, the Christians being the only ones who have excused any work of the kind ever executed by an amateur, or we might say by a professional artist, in Hopkinsville. We do not know the name of the picture, but it represents a little child with upturned eyes, clasping its mother round the neck. It certainly reflects credit upon Miss Lillie.

TOBACCO NEWS.

The market during the week was steady and full on Lungs and Low Leaf, but weak and irregular on the better grades. The prevailing notion among planters that they will get better prices in June induced them to hold, together with the long dry season we have had for handling Tobacco, forcing the bulk of sales within so short a period, we fear will tend to depress prices and create disappointment.

The fact that supply and demand control prices, we think should induce holders of tobacco to sell when receipts are light and prices reasonable, rather than take chances when the future prospect is for a glutted market. Many are enabled to order and sell, while their neighbors have no seasons, and rumor says tobacco on which bills are drawn has not been in order during the season.

For week ending May 10th, 1879:

Receipts 286
Sales 246
Inspections 274

BEVERLY.

All the farmers are needing rain very much.

Tobacco plants look very fine in some portions of the neighborhood, while in others they are being literally devoured by the bugs.

Mr. Ed. Jones, who has the reputation of being an expert tobacco raiser, declares his readiness to commence setting plants next week.

A party of young gentlemen and ladies, equipped with fishing tackle and several well-filled baskets, set out on a fishing expedition one day of last week, but great was our astonishment in the evening when they returned declaring that the large pond to which they repaired did not contain a single fish, or else with seines and hooks they surely would have caught more than three.

A negro man named Jim Steger while returning from church last Monday night suddenly dropped dead at the feet of two companions, who immediately summoned Dr. Kenner whose residence was not far away.

The Dr. said it was occasioned by a flow of blood to the heart. It seems he had been thrown from a horse a few days prior to his untimely death and from the effects of which he had not entirely recovered.

Dr. Dulin has a notion of having a great many improvements made this spring, if we may judge from the continuous bang, bang, over that way.

Chills are again making their appearance. Green fruit is probably the cause this time.

Mr. W. F. Patton, who has been teaching a private school at this place, closed her school on Friday to move to Hopkinsville with the Doctor. Mrs. Patton is an excellent teacher and her leaving is regretted by all. Doubtless the situation will be hard to fill with one who will prove as satisfactory as she has done.

The boys and girls are amusing themselves by fishing with unusual success. Perch and chub are most plentiful.

A kerosene lamp exploded in Mrs. E. C. Cullom's hands the other day, which frightened her considerably. Fortunately no damage was done.

Mr. Walter Howe, the handsome young gentleman of Athens, Ohio, who had been visiting relatives in this neighborhood for a few months, left on the 18th ult. for his home, much to the regret of his many relatives and friends.

Mr. Zachariah McAfee is on a trip to Canton, Ky., in the interest of the snuff trade.

The bass ball club will be organized in a few days by the title of "Bellevue Red Stockings." A "Boys' glass ball club" is also needed.

Business is looking upward considerably, indicating good times ahead. We hope to see more activity.

Large preparations have been made for water-melons, much to our pleasure, for we kind 'er like 'em a little.

Miss Mollie Reeves, a pretty and interesting young lady of Mayfield, Ky., is on a visit to the family of Mr. and Mrs. White.

Miss Eliza Launder is spending a few weeks with relatives in Hopkinsville.

The election for town officers passed off quietly here last Saturday. The following are trustees elected for the ensuing year: Dr. Wade, R. Vaughan, J. C. Terry, A. J. Kenner, Sr., E. S. Stuart. Three of the above trustees are opposed to the sale of whiskey. It is very doubtful after the license of the saloons have expired whether they get them renewed again or not. M.

The Cabbage Worm.

A correspondent of the Farmer and Fruit Grower thus disposes of the cabbage worm: The cabbage worm, the scourge of Northern and Eastern kitchen gardeners and truck patchers, for the last four or five years, has been gradually moving over the country, and his march westward has just reached its country. At any rate I was first made aware of his presence by its depredations on my cabbage patch, and first saw the millers, or butterflies, which lay the eggs, producing the worm, early the present week. The miller is an innocent enough looking white butterfly, having a spread of wings of about two inches, and the worm is a tender green thing of from a third to a full inch long, according to growth. When the millers are abundant, they flutter in swarms over cabbage patches, and the worms are voracious feeders. But the latter are easily killed, hot water at a temperature of one hundred and twenty-five degrees doing the business effectually. For myself, I attacked with soapsuds made in following way: To one quart of soap, add a teaspoonful of crude carbolic acid, stir and mix thoroughly. Then to a bucket of water (cistern or soft water is preferable) add one-third of the soap, make a suds and sprinkle so as to wet each cabbage thoroughly. Repeat the operation every morning till the worms are destroyed. Of these Prof. Lazear, of Cornell University, says: "After numerous experiments and very careful trials, we can command the following remedies, knowing them to be safe, cheap, and effective: First, a solution of one pound of whale-oil soap in about six gallons of water, applied two or three times during the season; second, tar-water—prepared by placing a few quarts into a barrel of water, and applying this mixture two or three times during the season." Having no whale-oil soap or tar at command, I used the suds as prepared above, and so far with good results. The worms must be destroyed, because when the cabbages which have only been slightly eaten by it, come to be dressed for cooking, they will be found to be fouled past decency for eating.

Deep Plowing.

(New York Observer.)
Some twenty years ago there was a mania among the agricultural theorists for deep plowing. Every farmer, it was said, had a farm under his hands of great value, where the plow had not yet reached. No matter what the character of the surface and the subsoils were, the plow should go in to its beam. But these men are beginning to get their eyes open. Mr. Geo. E. Waring, Jr., in speaking of the results of ten years' management of "Ogden Farm," says: "About six acres were some seven or eight years ago, plowed about twelve inches deep. The subsoil of blue clay, which was brought to the surface, was a lasting injury to the land. It still shows the ill effect of the treatment, in spite of time and manure. There are some soils that would be benefited by plowing twelve inches deep, but they are scarce." The rule may be said to be: "Never turn up over one or two inches of unfertilized subsoil in one sea son; and, when so turned up, the land should receive a dressing of manure."

Partial Drainage.

Partial drainage properly carried out answers a good purpose for the present, and is to be recommended in the great majority of cases in the West where the style of farming calls for the drainage of large tracts. The price of farm products and the money capital in the hands of farmers would not warrant a different course. But it should be according to a settled and well-conceived plan. Perform the work for all time, so that when carried forward it shall be a perfect whole. I can not believe it is best to put a drain here and one there to serve the present purpose—and it is quite likely not that of the future. For a small amount a sufficient number of levels could be taken and platted to enable any intelligent farmer to go forward by himself with a system of drainage which would be of the best service now and not to be discarded.

"Why not make use and derive profit from other men's follies? Why repeat them?" Prof. Shattuck in Drainage Journal.

To Judge Cattle.

The following are good and practical hints for judging cattle: An animal possessed of a fine, long, and mossy coat, that is soft under the hand, has the indication of a good feeder, while the fat, as a rule, will be distributed, giving a good quality of fine-grained marbled flesh. If the coat is short and fine, the animal will probably feed well, but there will be a tendency to the formation of internal fat, instead of that uniform distribution throughout the system which is desirable. A harsh, coarse, wiry coat is an indication of poor feeding qualities and of late maturity.

Mr. John Bright has made a calendar and found that one bushel of corn planted $\frac{3}{4}$ feet each way, is sufficient for 5 acres, and planted 4 feet each way will cover 7 acres. There are, he says, 70,000 grains in a bushel, and it requires 14,400 to plant an acre.—Interior Journal.

A. M. Purdy says it may not be generally known that apple seed, sown in the fall where a hedge is desired, in four or five years forms an impregnable hedge. They should be clipped back two or three times, with a knife or hedge shears, to grow low and stocky.

"I believe," said a lady, "that there is no sadness so deep and all-pervading as the sadness which one experiences after being defeated at croquet. Why, I have felt so gloomy for the first hour after defeat that a proposal of marriage from a crown prince, if made at such a moment, would be repelled with a short answer. The present of a diamond ring," she continued, "might awaken joy in my heart, but I am sure nothing else would."

The Banana.

Mr. Dilke believes that the banana plant is one of the great curses of tropical countries, because it will support life with no labor. It grows as a weed, and hangs down its bunches of ripe, tempting fruit into your lap as you sit in its cool shade. You will take nothing from it, eat it raw or fried, and that is all you can eat it every day of your life without becoming tired of its taste; without suffering in your health, you can live on it exclusively. The terrible results of the plentiful possession of this tree are seen in Ceylon, at Panama, in the coast-lands of Mexico, at the Anchorage, in New Zealand. At Picau's Island the plantain-grave has beaten the missionary from the field; there is much lip Christianity, but no practice, to be got from a people who possess that fatal plant. The much-abused coco-nut cannot come near it as a devil's agent."

A Failure.

Any attempt to produce a perfume in this or any other country that can surpass Dr. Price's Unique Perfumes will prove a failure, for Dr. Price's perfumes are as fresh and sweet as the flowers from which they are made, and cannot be improved.

Female Suicides.

Poor frail woman! How sad the life and how terrible the death of many. The midnight slugs, the lover's heart, the bloody dagger, the gun, the knife, the rope, the noose, the potion to shorten life. And yet another mode of self-destruction is more frequent than all the rest, and that is suicide by starvation. You are guilty, the father snicks an aspen. Females are absolutely bursting themselves to death, because they are the victims of just of female disease that constantly afflict them. Some have become pale, feeble and emaciated, others have become fat, others of a chronic nature implicating the whole system. Young girls become almost as fat as old women, and die of starvation. You eat in an act of all this suffering, and why hesitate? Dr. Dromgoole's English "Feminist" says: "The cruel, thousand-fold powerful purgative and tonic and female regulator."

Too Much Physic.

How many people are killing themselves with medicine! They are making themselves sick, shortening their lives, and one mass are taken in quantities for constipation, biliousness and rheumatism. The physician prescribes the medicine, the patient takes it, and there is high fever and rapid prostration. Quinine will cure such cases as the red-gum, it gives a strong, healthy glow, but the druggist will return to-morrow with the complaint will return to-morrow with the same symptoms, dispense, etc., and for this purpose nothing equals Baile's Saline Arsenite. It is a sweet and efficient medicine, pleasant to the system, and can hardly be called a medicine. Large bottles 50 cents.

Swamp Chills.

This species of chills are generally more difficult to eradicate than others. The main cause is a nervous system characterized by more biliousness and a tendency to congestion. The whole system becomes affected, the heart, lungs, liver, kidneys, etc., and there is high fever and rapid prostration. Quinine will cure such cases as the red-gum, it gives a strong, healthy glow, but the druggist will return to-morrow with the same symptoms, dispense, etc., and for this purpose nothing equals Baile's Saline Arsenite. It is a sweet and efficient medicine, pleasant to the system, and can hardly be called a medicine. Large bottles 50 cents.

LOST!

It is an Established Fact

That Quinine or Cinchonine will stop chills, and is also an established fact that Quinine is the only medicine that can be relied upon to stop the chills. For if they did, the Chills would not return on the 7th, 14th, 21st, or 28th day, but the complaint will return to-morrow with the same symptoms, dispense, etc., and for this purpose nothing equals Baile's Saline Arsenite. It is a sweet and efficient medicine, pleasant to the system, and can hardly be called a medicine. Large bottles 50 cents.

Ferrine

Is warranted to remove every cause from the system that produces the chills, and if it fails to do so, it will do so in a few days, and every druggist is anxious to guarantee it.

It is a well-known fact that the Chills will not return after you are through with it.

Possibly no cure, pay. Try it if you are inclined. It contains no poison, and is perfectly safe. It is sold by G. M. WALKER, and a permanent cure guaranteed for until the cause is removed, the Chills will return. The
